ASSESSMENT

You'll be allocated a named tutor from our team, who will be your guide and support for that personal touch. They will be your assessor - so there's no need to find your own qualified assessor or witness, we handle everything.

Before you start anything you'll be invited to have a one to one talk with your tutor to set you off on the right track. The first part is the introductory, theory based unit. For this you'll need to answer a series of straightforward questions on our portal, which has video lessons and guides for you.

The remaining two units include practical parts where you plan and carry out assessments in both workplace and learning settings. Again you'll be supported by your tutor who will provide guidance and feedback to help you.
